Turning Ideas into Scalable Digital Products

About myself

Digital product developer and AI practitioner with a unique blend of technical acumen and strategic business insight. Leveraging experience across IT support, e-commerce, and AI SaaS development, I specialize in building end-to-end digital solutions, ranging from database architecture and video automation to AI recommendation platforms.

Driven by the belief that technology should empower people, I am a highly self-motivated learner who constantly explores emerging tools to drive tangible business impact. I am actively seeking opportunities to build innovative products, collaborate with high-performing teams, and continuously elevate my technical capabilities.
